"What is the area like",

"Elizabethtown, Pa. is located in the south central region of the state, in the northwestern corner of historic Lancaster County.

Elizabethtown features small shops and chain stores, eateries and coffee shops, a movie theater, and parks and sport fields.

There is also an Amish farm market within walking distance to campus.

And it's no secret Elizabethtown College is a very large part of the community, offering the surrounding communities a venue for arts and cultural events.

And, on many days, the aroma of chocolate fills the air because Mars Chocolate has a manufacturing facility right in town.

If you're just coming to visit, the local area offers multiple lodging and dining opportunities.

Elizabethtown is a short drive from Hershey, Harrisburg, the city of Lancaster and PA Dutch Country; each of these neighboring cities and rural areas provide plenty of recreational, educational and entertainment opportunities.

And, with an Amtrak station in town, you are only a quick train ride from major urban centers Philadelphia, Washington D.C., Baltimore, or New York City."

"Is Etown sustainable",

"All major decisions at Etown are made with sustainability in mind.

Elements of our efforts can be found throughout all facets of our campus community.

As our college community grows and advances every year, our commitment to sustainability continues to gain momentum.

We have placed a huge focus on monitoring the efficiency of our current operations in order to target our weaknesses and make improvements.

We welcome projects of all shapes and sizes.

In the past, efforts have been led by passionate students, faculty, and staff.

Projects include water conservation, energy use, and recycling initiatives.

We've even implemented a bike-share program.

Join us in our search for innovative ways to create a sustainable campus!"

Our educational philosophy fosters an understanding of education for a life of purpose based on a model of student development that integrates career readiness and a commitment to civic engagement.

As a result, graduates are prepared to make the world a better place and be successful while doing so.

Etown delivers a high-quality, high-value education that provides the kind of earning power that ranks us among the country's highest value-added institutions with mid-career earnings 27% more than predicted."

"The majority of our resident students at Elizabethtown College live in one of our six traditional residence halls (Schlosser, Founders, Ober, Myer, Brinser, and Royer) or in one of our two Independent Living Units (Hackman apartments and Schrieber Quads), on campus. Our residential facilities are inclusive to all genders.

Residence Halls include: Standard twin bed that can be adjusted for height and typically have 33" of clearance underneath when raised to the highest, Desks: surface usually 48" x 24", Desk chair, Dresser (Dresser drawer: 24" wide x 21" deep or; 22" wide x 20" deep and height varies), Wardrobe or closet (Closets are 46-58" wide with one shelf), Windows range from 73" x 65" h to 82" x 64" h and come with either vinyl blinds or a rolling blind (most rooms have a rolling blind).

Apartments/Quads in addition to the standard residence hall furniture include: Living room couch/loveseat and/or chair, Dining table with 4 chairs"

}

{

"how does housing selection work",

"ILUs and Roommate Groups:

You will be required to fill all spots in an ILU for fall semester at the time of selection.

Incomplete units will not be accepted.

ILUs do not all have the same number of bed spaces.

All Hackman Apartments and Quads have 4 beds.

Brinser has suites that have 2, 3, and 4 beds.

The college-owned houses have 4 and 5 beds, depending on the house.

If, for whatever reason, someone from your roommate group no longer wishes to or is eligible to live in your chosen ILU, you may have the option to pull in another eligible roommate.

It is possible that you will be assigned someone from the waitlist, depending on the time of year.

Single Rooms:

Single rooms are only available for students with a documented medical accommodation that is approved by the Office of Disability Services.

The single room waitlist is managed by the Office of Disability Services.

December Graduates:

If you are graduating in December, please notify your roommate(s) now.

We will work to fill your space over winter break if you do not have someone to take your place.

Graduate Student Housing:

On-campus housing is mandatory for undergraduate students in their first 8 semesters (4 years) on campus.

5th year and Graduate Students can express interest in on-campus housing, but we cannot guarantee placement.

Graduate Student housing assignments are made if there are available beds after incoming students' assignments are confirmed.

Our team likely will not be able to confirm that there are beds available until August.

It is important that you have a backup plan if you plan to explore living on campus as a Graduate Student.

Please note, Graduate Students cannot select roommates for this option.

We place Graduate Students in any beds that are available within our housing options."

"What is a FYS",

"This interdisciplinary educational experience develops skills of critical thinking and writing and broadens definitions of learning.

The course is a serious academic one, and it is topical in nature, meaning that each seminar has its own emphasis.

Our faculty members teach seminars on subjects of passionate interest to them, but no seminar is grounded in a particular major.

Students in each seminar benefit from the support of a peer mentor—a sophomore, junior, or senior who works with the faculty to facilitate the transition from high school to college.

Over the course of the semester, peer mentors lead Roundtables devoted to navigation of campus electronic resources, discernment of Strengths, utilization of course registration software, and preparation for oral presentations.

Peer mentors thereby provide curricular and co-curricular foundations upon which students can rely both in the first year and beyond.

Each seminar also includes out-of-class learning experiences, which will expose you to educational opportunities and cultural events on campus and, in many cases, beyond Elizabethtown as well.

In recent years, students have attended plays, lectures, art exhibits, and film screenings.

Some instructors have taken their students to museums in Philadelphia and Washington and even hiked the Appalachian Trail.

The possibilities are endless!As part of your orientation paperwork, you will select your top ten seminars from a list of approximately thirty courses.

Most students who submit on time receive one of their top five choices! Each seminar is capped at sixteen students, allowing you to develop close relationships with your instructor and your peers.

Each year First-Year Seminar faculty nominate student papers for the Anna Carper Excellence in Library Research Award.

Named in honor of Anna M. Carper '41, the college librarian from 1960 to 1986, the prize is awarded for the best research paper in First-Year Seminar.

Two honorable mentions are also awarded.

In 2018-2019 Olivia Moyer won the grand prize and Elizabeth LePore won an honorable mention."

"Klein Chocolate built the Klein Chocolate Co. Athletic Field on property next to its downtown plant and then sponsored a semi-pro baseball team that used the field in the 1920s.

In addition to playing teams around Lancaster County, the Klein Chocolate team played professional teams such as the Brooklyn Dodgers, Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox.

In late September 1919, Klein Chocolate defeated the Boston Red Sox 4-0 and pitcher Babe Ruth. The Red Sox stayed in Elizabethtown an extra day so they could play the Klein Chocolate team again.

They won the next game."

"Are there study abroad opportunities",

"Yes, Etown has a very popular study abroad program.

The Study Abroad Office provides guidance and support to students in all majors who want to study abroad on a semester, year, summer, winter, or faculty-led program.

By living in a culture fundamentally different from your own, you are exposed to new ways of thinking and challenge your preconceived notions of "normal." While abroad, our students have the opportunity to take classes at a local university, intern at businesses within the community, and/or volunteer at various regional organizations.

Our alumni have continuously cited that studying abroad served as a catalyst for change and inspiration in their lives, both personally and professionally."

}

"Are professors available for research with students?",

"Yes, summer research (SCARP) is very popular at etown.

The Summer Creative Arts and Research program (SCARP) was created to support independent student research under the sponsorship of a faculty mentor.

The program is a non-credit experiential learning program designed to enhance professional skills and provide a competitive advantage to participating students in the pursuit of career opportunities and graduate studies.

At the same time, participating faculty scholars and researchers will benefit from student involvement in support of professional scholarship and research agendas.

For participating in the program, students will receive a training stipend, room and board for the duration of their projects (from 4 to 10 weeks), and a professional experience as part of a scholarship/research community.

They will also benefit from highly personalized mentoring from active researchers and scholars.

SCARP has been approved as a supervised research option that fulfills one of the two required Signature Learning Experiences (SLE) for Elizabethtown College students."
